Kluge-Ruhe Aboriginal Art Collection

The Kluge-Ruhe Aboriginal Art Collection of the University of Virginia came into being in 1997 through a gift by American businessman John W. Kluge. Influenced by the Dreamings exhibition in New York, Kluge began collecting Aboriginal art in 1988. Over the next decade he compiled one of the finest private collections of Australian Aboriginal art in the world.

In 1993 Kluge purchased the collection and archives of the late Professor Edward L. Ruhe of Lawrence, Kansas, who had built a collection of the highest quality and exhibited it widely in the United States between 1965 and 1977. His archives compose the core of the Kluge-Ruhe Study Center.

Kluge Estate Winery and Vineyard

Established in 1999, Kluge Estate Winery and Vineyard is one of the East Coast's most prestigious wineries. Tucked into Carter's Mountain on the edge of the picturesque Blue Ridge Mountains, Kluge Estate Winery and Vineyard's 900 acres are located on the same ridgeline as Monticello.

Combining meticulous wine-making practices and world talent with a genuine love of the land and support for the Virginia wine community, Kluge Estate is capitalizing on the region's potential to create world-class wines.
